I put together this free course to help HR professionals. The only thing I ask in return is that participants go through the course and tell a friend or coworker if they find it helpful. If you're reading this, then you've already seen at least one of the lessons. If it was useful for you, would you pass it along to someone else? It's easy, it's free, and you can help someone else, too. Below are two buttons that you can use to share it via email or via Twitter. Feel free to throw it on your LinkedIn or Facebook status, too. Thanks!
